

Allison Finerfrock

Ms. Allison Finerfrock is the Senior Manager for Distribution Operations, for Ferguson Enterprises, Inc. She is responsible for managing the operational effectiveness of 10 traditional Distribution Centers and 4 Pipe yards in the Ferguson supply chain. In addition to being a liaison between the field and headquarters departments, she focuses on improving the DC network in terms of Safety, Quality, Productivity and Speed. Her team is critical in data management within the DC network, inventory management as well as leading new initiatives through field testing and implementation.

Prior to this role, Allison held various positions at Target in distribution including operations management and production control. Most recently, her prior role included the integration, testing and implementation of a new distribution fulfillment concept for Target which included integrating a new production system into a running operational design. In this role, Allison led the largest automated packing department in the Target DC network. Prior to Target, Allison served in the United States Army in Logistics and Transportation and her service included a tour of duty in Afghanistan.

Allison is a graduate of the United States Military Academy at West Point and William and Mary, and she holds a BS and MBA. A native of Virginia, Allison enjoys taking advantage of all the outdoor waterfront activities in the state and lives there with her husband, 2 daughters and a spunky springer spaniel.