

Leadership Lessons from the Top

Session abstract:

Session attendees will engage with a few, very senior Supply Chain leaders to listen, share and learn from the “journey lines” of their success. Leaders will share their successful career journeys, critical skills and key decisions made to drive their own path. By sharing the highs and lows of their career paths the audience will learn how to develop their own journey line to achieve the career goals each individual aspires to. During the session, interactive technology and multi-media presentations will be used to engage and interact with all participants.

Why attend:

This session will give participants an intimate look at the successful careers of leading supply chain executives. If you aspire to grow and develop your career with agility and speed to meet future business needs, this sessions is for you.
